UPCOMING ATTRACTIONS

SPECIAL ATTRACTION

Happy to announce our partnership (senior school ) with the learning outcomes digi domain - FLOWBOOK!!!

XPRESS FOCUS FLOWBOOK IS INDIA'S FIRST EDUCATIONAL OUTCOMES PLATFORM

Lack of accountability for educational outcomes remains a concern even today and there is almost no mechanism to know the exact status of the student concerning any single topic in the syllabus. Teachers don't have a ready mechanism to track a student's status of activities. We are helping schools achieve a data-driven decision-making model by working closely with students on a micro-scale and helping schools to ensure no student is left behind. We also help them open up the Pandora box of non-academics to treat every student differently by giving them a choice to pick their interests.

At Flowbook, we are trying to fix the shortcomings of the education system by helping schools achieve self-sufficiency. Consider the education system as a bucket with a hole at the bottom. While everyone is trying to add more water to the bucket, we are trying to fix the leakage and help the bucket. As long as we don't fix the problems at the school level, no amount of tutoring or upskilling will be sufficient. We are trying to plug the gaps at the school level itself.

We are India's first educational outcomes platform with a purpose-driven technology and innovative products to achieve growth. We have spent our early years in innovating and scaling our offerings. Today, we have 100 schools waiting on our list who have signed up for a free pilot run. We work closely with schools at different levels to ensure educational outcomes are achieved and no student is left out. We have various product offerings to cover both students directly and through schools.

In less than 3 months from the launch of our new platform, we went from one pilot school to ten schools. We already have 2000 monthly-paying students with a target to reach 10,000 for this year and at least 1 lakh within the next 3 years. We are planning to introduce premium offerings to leverage the network of partners while reducing the customer acquisition cost.

The idea of Flowbook generated when, "I was in 9th grade and my mother would make me learn 4-5 topics per day and then explain them back to her. I had to complete this to earn my freedom to do anything for the rest of the day. This simple process helped me top my exams. That's the power of incremental improvement."

Along with that, my experiments with audio notes, as a student preparing for the civil services exam, introduced me to the world of efficient learning. These two personal experiences formed the basis for what we are doing today. Arjun Reddy, Chief Executive Officer, Flowbook.

We use voice notes as the primary tool to understand the exact status of the student on each topic and build our way up from there. Every number we present in our system has a story. It makes way for data-driven decisions that the stakeholders can understand. We created a range of original tech tools to enhance the efficiency of teaching and learning processes - Built intricate communication systems between students and teachers. We curated our messaging and conferencing system to protect privacy by number masking. We built an entire community within the platform for exchanging doubts and showcasing talents. It is a student-level social media platform with strict moderation to ensure student safety.

We are backed by Petrichor Investments that combines technology, sales, marketing, and capital access to create a hybrid venture building model with a focus on creating value across the start-up ecosystem in India.
